The power of balance – how people can strengthen their creativity in stressful times

This tutorial teaches participants how to tap into the creative intelligence of their bodies for innovative thinking. By utilizing mindfulness exercises and visualizations, individuals can calm their minds, develop concentration, and enhance empathy for systems. The approach draws from scientific methods like mindfulness training, Theory U, and Mindful Leadership Training. Through reducing stress, strengthening resilience, and fostering inner connection, participants can access creative intuition on demand and enhance their creativity.
